EMI Full Keel Music, EMI Consortium Songs, Inc. d/b/a EMI Longitude Music, EMI Feist Catalog Inc., EMI Robbins Catalog Inc., EMI Unart Catalog Inc., Jobete Music Co., Inc., Screen-Gems-EMI Music Inc., Stone Agate Music, Stone Diamond Music Corp., Imagem Music LLC, Peer International Corporation, PSO Limited, Peermusic Ltd., Peermusic III, Ltd., Songs of Peer, Ltd., Spirit Catalog Holdings S.A.R.L., Spirit Two Music, Inc., Warner-Tamerlane Publishing Corp. and WB Music Corp. (collectively “Plaintiffs”) allege for their Complaint herein as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. Plaintiffs are music publishers who own or control copyrights in many of the world’s most popular and beloved musical works. In this action, Plaintiffs seek damages and equitable relief for of Defendants’ unauthorized commercial exploitation of an archive of infringing and bootlegged audio and video recordings.

2. Defendants, operating under the banner “Wolfgang’s Vault,” disseminate thousands of concert video and audio recordings through multiple websites. The collection trades upon and exploits the works of such diverse and iconic songwriters as Hoagy Carmichael in the 1920s, 30s and 40s to Brill Building legends such as Carole King, Barry Mann and Cynthia Weil, to British Invasion superstars Mick Jagger, Keith Richards and Pete Townshend, to new wave and alternate rock bands such as Talking Heads, R.E.M. and Green Day. Defendants commercially exploit these concert recordings, offering tens of thousands of hours of footage to the public as on-demand streams, digital downloads, CDs, DVDs and newly pressed vinyl recordings.

3. Defendants profess that they acquired this vast trove of legendary music, which they themselves characterize as the “largest collection of live audio and video recordings online” and “the world’s largest collection of live music,” and which Defendants value in excess of $100 million, from the successors of the late concert promoter Bill Graham, as well as from other concert venues and promoters such as the Newport Jazz and Folk Festivals and the syndicated radio show King Biscuit Flower Hour.

4. However, none of these purported acquisition sources include Plaintiffs, who actually own or control the copyrights in and to the musical compositions performed by these incredible musicians. Neither Bill Graham nor his successors or counterparts had the rights necessary to authorize Defendants (or any of their predecessors) to exploit the musical works embodied in these concert performances. And nothing in Defendants’ provenance of possession of these physical materials even remotely suggests that Defendants’ vendors, or their predecessors, had the right to authorize Defendants’ massive commercial exploitation of Plaintiffs’ copyrighted musical compositions.

5. Indeed, this concert footage, created by and large without commercial intent and for private archival purposes only, has now become, in Defendants’ hands, a huge commercial venture, unintended by their creators – attracting some 50,000 unique visitors per day – which deprives the Plaintiff music publishers and their respective songwriters of just compensation from this massive infringement.

6. Simply stated, Defendants are exploiting Plaintiffs’ copyrighted musical compositions without the requisite rights which could only have been granted by the owners of the copyrights in Plaintiffs’ Musical Works. These rights begin with the right to reproduce Plaintiffs’ Musical Works in conjunction with moving images of the concert performances (known as a “synchronization” or “synch” right). Before a copyrighted musical work can be lawfully reproduced or “synched” with a moving image, such as by recording both the audio and visual components of a musical concert, a synchronization license must be obtained from the owner of the copyright in the musical composition being performed at the concert. Absent such a grant from Plaintiffs, Defendants are nothing more than a collector who, having purchased thousands of tapes, records and DVDs, now makes and sells copies of these physical objects or disseminates them to the public through a website. Defendants, like the hypothetical collector, have not acquired the requisite rights from the appropriate parties to carry on this illicit business.

7. Moreover, in converting the physical archival recordings they obtained from Graham's successors and others into commercially exploitable digital files, Defendants have admittedly transferred, mixed and re-mastered thousands of musical recordings, including many of Plaintiffs' copyrighted musical works.

8. In addition to the unlawful synchronization and reproduction of Plaintiffs' copyrighted musical compositions in audiovisual works, Defendants also have separately engaged in the unauthorized making and distributing of phonorecords (i.e., audio-only recordings) through digital downloads, on-demand streaming and newly manufactured CDs and records. By Defendants' own estimation, they have streamed over 2 billion recorded concert performances, sold tens of thousands of concert recordings for download, and are believed to have sold many more thousands of newly manufactured CDs, DVDs and records – all without obtaining a proper license required for such downloads and reproductions (known as a “mechanical” license).

9. Each of Defendants' unauthorized synchronizations, reproductions, on-demand streams, digital downloads, manufacture and distributions of phonorecords embodying one of Plaintiffs' copyrighted musical works constitutes a separate act of infringement. Defendants have therefore committed more than eight hundred separate acts of infringements, each of which gives rise to a separate damage award under the United States Copyright Act.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. This is a civil action for copyright infringement under the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101, et seq.

11. This Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over all claims in this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 and 1338(a).

12. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendants, because they (i) transact business and contract to supply goods and services in New York by, among other things, entering paid subscription agreements with, and collecting subscription fees and other charges from, New York residents in exchange for access to concert video and audio recordings, which acts give rise to the claims asserted herein, (ii) have committed tortious acts within New York by, among other things, unlawfully distributing and transmitting copyrighted musical works to New York residents in exchange for membership fees and other charges, which acts give rise to the claims asserted herein, and (iii) have committed tortious acts without New York by, among other things, unlawfully synchronizing, reproducing and distributing copyrighted musical works causing injury in New York, which acts give rise in whole or in part to the claims asserted herein, while regularly doing and soliciting business and deriving substantial revenue from goods consumed and services rendered in New York, while expecting their acts to have consequences in New York and while deriving substantial revenue from interstate commerce.

13. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 and 1400(a).

42. Plaintiffs own and/or control copyrighted musical compositions (the “Musical Works”) which they commercially exploit through the issuance of various forms of licenses including but not limited to mechanical and synchronization licenses.

43. Plaintiffs license their Musical Works for use in television programs, commercials, movies, CD compilations, public performances, and for downloading and streaming on the Internet.

44. A partial, non-exhaustive list of Plaintiffs’ Musical Works that have been infringed by Defendants is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Each of the Musical Works listed on Exhibit A has been duly registered with the United States Copyright Office. The publisher, song title, songwriter(s), artist/performer(s) and Defendants' infringing uses of each such Musical Work are identified in Columns I through IV, respectively. Upon information and belief, many other Musical Works owned and/or controlled by Plaintiffs have been infringed on Defendants' Infringing Websites, and Defendants have committed many additional acts of infringement beyond those identified on Exhibit A.

45. Upon information and belief, Defendant William Sagan is a resident of the State of California. Upon information and belief, Sagan owns a controlling interest in Defendants Bill Graham Archives LLC and Norton LLC, and has authorized, ratified, participated in and benefitted from each of the acts complained of herein.

46. Upon information and belief, Defendant Norton, LLC is a limited liability company incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota with its principal places of business in Wayzata, Minnesota and San Francisco, California.

47. Upon information and belief, Defendant Bill Graham Archives LLC ("BGA") is a limited liability company organized under the laws of Delaware with its principal place of business in Wayzata, Minnesota. Defendants BGA and Norton own and operate the websites identified as Wolfgang's Vault, Concert Vault, Music Vault and Daytrotter (collectively referred to as "the Infringing Websites").

DEFENDANTS BUY
COLLECTIONS OF UNLICENSED PHYSICAL CONCERT RECORDINGS

48. In 2002, Defendants acquired certain physical archives held in storage by Bill Graham, who operated the concert venues "The Fillmore Auditorium," "Fillmore West," "Fillmore East," "Winterland" and several other venues, where many of the most well-known musical artists performed beginning in the 1960s.

49. During his 30-year career as a concert promoter, Graham recorded or collected recordings of many of the performances at his venues for private archival, non-commercial purposes.

50. Neither Plaintiffs nor their predecessors authorized Graham or any of his successors, including Defendants, to record and reproduce any concert performances of the Musical Works, to synchronize the Musical Works with the visual component of the concert footage, or to exploit the Musical Works in any way for commercial gain.

51. When any or all of Defendants purchased the physical materials in Graham's archives in 2002, they acquired only physical objects, i.e. audio recordings and concert videos. They did not and could not acquire any copyright interests in and to the musical compositions embodied in those recordings, including Plaintiffs' Musical Works, because the vendors of these physical materials did not own or control the copyrights in the Musical Works nor had they obtained the rights to embody the Musical Works in the physical materials.

52. Upon information and belief, Defendants have purchased other collections of video and audio recordings from concert venues and promoters such as the Newport Folk and Jazz Festivals, the King Biscuit Flower Hour, Silver Eagle Distributors, Dawson Sound Productions, the Record Plant recording studio and the Ash Grove theater, which they also exploit on the Infringing Websites.

53. None of the musical concert tapes that Defendants have purchased from these sources were recorded, synchronized, reproduced, distributed or commercially exploited with the authorization of Plaintiffs or their predecessors.

54. Defendants therefore did not acquire any copyright interests in and to the musical compositions embodied in those tapes, including Plaintiffs' Musical Works.

55. Nevertheless, Defendants have admittedly transferred, mixed and re-mastered thousands of physical recordings that they bought from Graham's successors and other sources, and, as detailed below, Defendants are commercially exploiting the Musical Works embodied in those recordings on their Infringing Websites through on-demand streaming, digital downloads, and sales of CDs and vinyl discs.

DEFENDANTS' INFRINGING ACTIVITIES

Concert Vault

56. Defendants own and operate the Infringing Website Concert Vault, located at www.concertvault.com, and also accessible via Concert Vault applications on iPad, iPhone, Android and Sonos devices.

57. When Defendants launched Concert Vault in or around 2007, it contained audio-only recordings of several hundred live concert performances, which Defendants offered for free. In or around 2011, Defendants began offering on-demand streaming of video recordings of live concert performances, and began charging subscribers for access to the concert videos available for streaming and the audio recordings available for download on Concert Vault.

58. Defendants have since expanded the amount of content available on Concert Vault, which now hosts video and audio recordings of tens of thousands of live concert performances by more than 7,000 different musical performers.

59. The videos available for streaming on Concert Vault were recorded, synchronized and reproduced without the requisite permission and authorization of the music publishers that own or control the Musical Works featured in the concert performances.

60. Defendants charge users monthly, yearly or biennial subscription fees to access the unauthorized recordings on Concert Vault. Subscribers can either browse organized listings of concert recordings sorted by genre or artist, or search for concerts by specific artists. Subscribers can then stream audiovisual concert recordings on-demand to their internet-connected computer, television, tablet or smartphone.

61. Defendants also make available to their paying Concert Vault subscribers the ability to download high-quality permanent audio recordings of more than 2,800 concert performances, at a cost of $5 per concert in addition to the monthly, yearly or biennial subscription fees.

62. Defendants reproduce each downloadable concert recording into separate files corresponding to each individual song performed during the concert.

63. Defendants offer these song files for sale by download without a license or any digital rights management protection that would prevent the further dissemination of these music files. As a result, users can easily upload the unprotected song files that they downloaded from Defendants' Concert Vault website to any number of social networking sites or bit-torrent systems, thus enabling virtually unlimited unauthorized re-distribution of Plaintiffs' copyrighted Musical Works.

64. Defendants, upon information and belief, have also licensed third parties to use and exploit the concert recordings available on Concert Vault. A "Licensing" page on Defendants' Concert Vault website invites "professional media producers" to submit requests to license any of the content on Concert Vault. Defendants make clear that they do not license footage for personal uses, but only for "broadcast or commercial distribution."

65. A non-exhaustive list of weblinks to Defendants' Infringing Website Concert Vault that contain unauthorized uses of Plaintiffs' Musical Works is included in Column IV of Exhibit A.

Music Vault

66. In or around April 2014, Defendants began to operate the Infringing Website Music Vault, located at www.musicvault.com.

67. Music Vault offers on-demand streaming of many, if not all, of the same concert video recordings that are available on Concert Vault.

68. Rather than charge subscription fees, Defendants sell banner advertisements that are displayed while users view concert videos on Music Vault. Defendants, upon information and belief, receive advertising revenues in proportion to the number of users that watch the concert videos on Music Vault. Defendants' revenues from Music Vault are thus directly tied to the number of times users stream concert videos containing Plaintiffs' Musical Works from Music Vault.

69. A non-exhaustive list of weblinks to Defendants' Infringing Website Music Vault that contain unauthorized uses of Plaintiffs' Musical Works is included in Column IV of Exhibit A.

Music Vault-Branded Websites on YouTube

70. In or around July 2014, Defendants began operating a number of Music Vault-branded Infringing Websites, known as "channels," on the YouTube.com platform. Those Infringing Websites include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Music Vault (www.youtube.com/user/musicvault)
- Music Vault; Rock (www.youtube.com/user/rockonmvyt)
- Music Vault; Alternative (www.youtube.com/user/AlternativeOnMV)
- Music Vault; Pop (www.youtube.com/user/PopOnMV)
- Music Vault; Punk & New Wave (www.youtube.com/user/punkandnewwaveonmv)
- Music Vault; Jam & Psych (<https://www.youtube.com/user/jamandpsychonmv>)

- Music Vault; Folk & Country (<https://www.youtube.com/user/folkandcountryonmv>)
- Music Vault; Broadway (<https://www.youtube.com/user/broadwayonmv>)
- Featured Artist: The Who; Music Vault (www.youtube.com/user/TheWhoOnMV)
- Featured Artist: Rolling Stones; Music Vault (www.youtube.com/user/rollingstonesonmv)
- Featured Artist: Allman Brothers; Music Vault (<https://www.youtube.com/user/allmanbrothersmv>)
- Featured Artist: Van Morrison; Music Vault (<https://www.youtube.com/user/vanmorrisonmv>)
- Featured Artist: Talking Heads; Music Vault (<https://www.youtube.com/user/TalkingHeadsOnMV>)
- Featured Artist: Black Crowes; Music Vault (<https://www.youtube.com/user/BlackCrowesOnMV>)

71. The Music Vault-branded Infringing Websites on YouTube offer on-demand streaming of many, if not all, of the same unauthorized video concert recordings that are available on Concert Vault and Music Vault.

72. The videos available for streaming on the Music Vault-branded Infringing Websites on YouTube were recorded, synchronized, reproduced and distributed without the requisite permission and authorization of the music publishers that own or control the Musical Works featured in the concert performances.

73. The Music Vault-branded Infringing Websites on YouTube display paid video advertisements prior to streaming each concert video. Defendants, upon information and belief, receive a portion of the revenues generated from those paid advertisements. Defendants' revenues from the Music Vault-branded websites on YouTube are thus directly tied to the number of times users stream concert videos containing Plaintiffs' copyrighted Musical Works from those websites.

74. A non-exhaustive list of weblinks to Defendants' Music Vault-branded Infringing Websites on YouTube that contain unauthorized uses of Plaintiffs' Musical Works is included in Column IV of Exhibit A.

Daytrotter

75. Defendants own and operate the Infringing Website Daytrotter, located at www.daytrotter.com, and also accessible via Daytrotter applications on iPad, iPhone, Android and Sonos devices.

76. Daytrotter hosts video and audio recordings of hundreds, if not thousands, of concert and studio performances by a variety of musical artists. Although Defendants advertise the performers on Daytrotter as "independent" artists, many of the musical compositions embodied in the recordings offered on Daytrotter are owned or controlled by Plaintiffs.

77. The videos available on Daytrotter were recorded, synchronized, reproduced and distributed without the requisite permission and authorization of the music publishers that own or control the Musical Works featured in the concert performances.

78. Daytrotter users can search for concert or studio recordings by specific performing artists, or select from a menu of "best of lists" and "featured playlists" that are selected by Defendants. Users can then stream audiovisual concert and studio recordings on-demand for free from Daytrotter to their internet-connected computer, television, tablet, or smartphone.

79. Defendants sell banner advertisements that are displayed while users watch concert and studio videos on Daytrotter. Defendants, upon information and belief, receive advertising revenues in proportion to the number of users that watch videos on Daytrotter.

Defendants' revenues from Daytrotter are thus directly tied to the number of times users stream videos containing Plaintiffs' Musical Works.

80. Alternatively, Daytrotter users can pay monthly, yearly or biennial subscription fees in order to watch videos on Daytrotter without advertisements, and to stream higher-quality audio recordings from Daytrotter to their internet-connected computers, televisions, tablets and smartphones. Paying subscribers are also permitted to download an unlimited number of high-quality permanent audio recordings from Daytrotter.

81. Defendants reproduce each downloadable audio recording into separate files corresponding to each individual song performed during the concert or recording session. Defendants make those song files available for download on Daytrotter without any digital rights management protection or licenses, thus enabling users to easily upload the unprotected song files to any number of social networking sites or bit-torrent systems, for virtually unlimited re-distribution of Plaintiffs' copyrighted Musical Works.

82. A non-exhaustive list of weblinks to Defendants' Infringing Website Daytrotter that contain unauthorized uses of Plaintiffs' Musical Works is included in Column IV of Exhibit A.

Wolfgang's Vault

83. Defendants own and operate the Infringing Website Wolfgang's Vault, located at www.wolfgangsvault.com.

84. Defendants claim that Wolfgang's Vault "serv[es] more than 50,000 customers every day" and offers for sale physical CDs, DVDs and vinyl records featuring the works of numerous classic-rock, jazz, folk, and popular songwriters, including songwriters whose works are owned or controlled by Plaintiffs.

85. The phonorecords that Defendants sell on Wolfgang's Vault, in some instances, merely contain the same unauthorized concert recordings that are available in digital format on Defendants' Concert Vault and/or Music Vault websites, and, in other instances, contain concert recordings pieced together from other sources, all without Plaintiffs' consent or authorization.

86. The phonorecords sold on Wolfgang's Vault that contain Plaintiffs' Musical Works were manufactured, reproduced and sold by Defendants without obtaining proper permission or authorization, thereby infringing Plaintiffs' copyrights.

87. In or around April 2015, Defendants began selling permanent digital downloads on Wolfgang's Vault, at a price of $7 per concert. Defendants now offer more than 2,800 live concert performances for paid download on Wolfgang's Vault.

88. Defendants offer these concert files for sale by download without a license or any digital rights management protection that would prevent the further dissemination of these music files. As a result, users can easily upload the unprotected song files that they downloaded from Wolfgang's Vault to any number of social networking sites or bit-torrent systems, thus enabling virtually unlimited unauthorized re-distribution of Plaintiffs' copyrighted Musical Works.

89. A non-exhaustive list of weblinks demonstrating Defendants' unauthorized uses of Plaintiffs' Musical Works on Wolfgang's Vault is included in Column IV of Exhibit A.

Defendants' Infringement is Willful

90. Defendants are sophisticated individuals and business entities that are aware of their obligations under the Copyright Act to obtain the necessary authority and license to synchronize, reproduce and distribute copyrighted musical compositions.

91. Defendants acknowledge on their Daytrotter and Concert Vault websites that "[a]ll content included on this site, such as . . . images, audio clips [and] digital downloads . . . is ... protected by United States and international copyright laws.” Defendants further represent publicly on their Daytrotter and Concert Vault websites that they protect their own questionable intellectual property rights, and further represent that they purport to “respect the intellectual property of others.”

92. Nevertheless, Defendants have, intentionally and with reckless disregard to Plaintiffs’ rights, synchronized, reproduced and distributed Plaintiffs’ Musical Works without obtaining Plaintiffs’ authorization or permission.

CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT)

93. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference each of the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

94. At all relevant times herein, Plaintiffs or their predecessors-in-interest own or control the copyrights to the Musical Works, which constitute original works of authorship subject to copyright protection under the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101, et seq., and which have been duly registered with the United States Copyright Office.

95. As detailed above, Defendants and their predecessors-in-interest have, without Plaintiffs’ license or authority, and have synchronized Plaintiffs’ Musical Works with visual images to create audio-visual works, unlawfully reproduced, transmitted and distributed those infringing audio-visual works through on-demand streaming, and have purported to authorize others to exploit those unauthorized audio-visual works. Defendants have also reproduced and/or distributed audio-only recordings of Plaintiffs’ Musical Works in compact disks, through digital downloads and on vinyl disks. Each such unauthorized synchronization, transmission, reproduction, distribution and/or purported license constitutes a separate act of infringement of Plaintiffs' copyrights in and to the Musical Works, in violation of the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §§ 106(1), 106(3) and 501(a).

96. Defendants' acts of infringement were committed intentionally and in reckless disregard of Plaintiffs' rights in and to the Musical Works, constituting willful copyright infringement.

97. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' infringing acts, Plaintiffs are entitled to statutory damages under 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), in the amount of up to $150,000 for each infringement, or, at Plaintiffs' election, their actual damages together with Defendants' profits pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(b).

98. Plaintiffs are entitled to an award of their attorneys' fees and full costs, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505.

99. Defendants' actions detailed above have caused and will continue to cause irreparable injury to Plaintiffs, for which Plaintiffs have no remedy at law. Plaintiffs are therefore entitled to a permanent injunction, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 502.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court enter judgment in their favor:

- a. Permanently restraining and enjoining Defendants, and each of their respective agents, servants, employees, officers, attorneys, successors, licensees and assigns, and all other persons in active concert or participation with Defendants, from infringing any of Plaintiffs' copyrights, including without limitation, the Musical Works identified on Exhibit A, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 502.
- b. Ordering that Defendants deliver up for impounding all copies or phonorecords made or used in violation of Plaintiffs' exclusive rights in and to the Musical Works, together with all plates, molds, matrices, masters, tapes, film negatives or other articles by means of which such copies or phonorecords may be reproduced, as well as records documenting the manufacture, sale, or receipt of things involved in such violation, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 503.

c. Awarding Plaintiffs' statutory damages pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c) in an amount of up to $150,000 per infringement, or, in the alternative and at Plaintiffs' election, awarding Plaintiffs their actual damages together with Defendants' profits, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(b).

d. Awarding Plaintiffs their reasonable attorneys' fees and full costs of this action, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505.

e. Ordering such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
